HOUSE FELL DOWN, BUT FOLK ESCAPED

Bratman Children Had Narrow Escape From Death Under Flying Brick.

ONE BADLY CUT ON SCALP

Accident Came Without Warning While Children Played Near Door.

Louis Treitick, eight years old, sustained three ugly cuts on his head; Samuel Bratman, five years old, suffered minor cuts and bruises on his body, and two women were prostrated by fright, when the two-story building at 206 West Broad Street, occupied by Morris Bratman as a tailoring establishment on the ground floor and living quarters upstairs, collapsed at noon yesterday. As in the case of the "one-hoss shay," the dissolution came without preliminary warning, and it is a miracle that there were no fatalities. Had the accident occurred a few minutes later a number of men who were at work digging the basement for a building to be erected next door to the collapsed structure, could hardly have escaped being buried beneath the ruins. They had just laid aside tools for the midday meal and escaped injury and possible death by the narrow margin.

Badly Cut on Scalp.
The little Treitick boy seems to have suffered more than the others. Dr. R. E. Watts, who responded to the hurry call for the city ambulance, and witnessed the boy's wounds, sewed up three bad looking cuts on his scalp. Unless internal injuries develop—and this is not likely—the lad will be well in a few days. The little fellow bore the surgeon's needle with true heroism, and seemed to be suffering more from the shock than from his bruises. The collapse of the building within the past three years, is directly traceable to the excavations which are being made for the building to be erected.

FACE DISFIGURED WITH ECZEMA

Covered with Eruption to Back of Ears So They Hardly Knew What He Looked Like, Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. In 4 Weeks Face Fine and Clean.

"Our little boy Gilbert was troubled with eczema when but a few weeks old. His little face was covered with sores even dressed to back of his ears. The poor little fellow suffered very much. We tried many remedies, but they did not help. We heard of Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Following the directions carefully and promptly we saw the result, and after four weeks, the dear child's face was as fine and clean as any little baby's face. Every one who saw Gilbert after using the Cuticura Remedies was surprised. He was a head of hair which is a pride for any boy of his age, three years. We can only recommend the Cuticura Remedies to everybody." (Signed) Mrs. M. H. Abrecht, Box 883, West Point, Neb., Oct. 19, 1916.

Although Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold throughout the world, a liberal sample of each, with 32-p. book on the skin will be sent free, on application to Postur Drug & Chem. Corp., Dept. 143, Boston.

ed on the plot adjoining, and which greatly weakened the outer wall of the ruined structure. It is claimed that the proper precautions were not taken to strengthen the walls. Both the derelict and the new building for which the excavations are being made belong to Mrs. A. R. Lawrence, of 1700 West Broad Street.

Morris Bratman, owner of the shop in the ruined building, had left the store on a business errand a few minutes before the accident, but his wife, Mrs. Rosa Bratman, was inside with the two smaller children—Isadore, aged seven, and Jacob, aged ten.

Got Children Away.
At the first preliminary rumble she scented danger, and grabbing the small boys, rushed them to the back door, where she encountered the other two boys. They had been playing on the outside stairway, and were running away from the shower of bricks and glass. She screamed to them to run, and pushed the smaller children beyond the danger line. Before the other two boys could get to a position of safety they were caught by flying bricks and plaster and knocked down. Once outside of the building Mrs. Bratman sank into a dead faint, and together with the injured boys, was carried into the adjoining store of R. Treitick by workmen and spectators.

Thought Child Was Dead.
Attracted by the crash, Mrs. Rachel Treitick rushed out of doors in time to witness the general avalanche of brick work and plaster. A minute before she had seen her little son at play in front of the fallen structure, and failing to find him at once, she set up a series of shrieks that were heard the length of the block and brought the crowd from all directions. She fell to the pavement, crying and shrieking, and was only calmed when confronted with her Louis, a good deal the worse for wear, but still on deck. The Treitick store was turned into a temporary hospital, and at the expiration of ten minutes all the principals in the accident were repaired.

The wildest of rumors were circulated immediately after the crash. The first news had it that five were dead and others still to be heard from, while a fire alarm brought to the scene the city's new fire engine and truck. A cordon of police held the gathering crowd in check, while patrol wagons stood by to render emergency assistance. It was fully fifteen minutes before the real damage was established and all fears allayed.

The household furniture on the upper floor of the collapsed building was the property of Mr. Bratman, and is a total wreck. Beds, chairs, tables and dressers protruded from the debris after the cave-in, showing that certain death would have met the inmates had the accident happened early in the morning, when the family was asleep.

STRUCK DOWN WHILE ON WAY TO VISIT HIS FAMILY

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Lynchburg, Va., August 10.—Malcolm B. Case after getting off Norfolk and Western train No. 3 at Goodes, a small stop between Roanoke and this city, was struck and instantly killed this afternoon by an eastbound freight which came down on him as he was walking up the track. Members of his family were visiting near Goodes, and presumably he was on his way to see them, when he came to his death. He was about forty years old, and leaves his wife and three children. The remains were brought to Lynchburg to-night.

Crops Damaged by Hail.
[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

PONY CONTEST IS WARMING UP

Interest in the Battle of the Ballots Is Increasing Daily.

With over two hundred children now actively at work and more entries every day, The Times-Dispatch pony and cart contest is now well started. Over a hundred contestants are working in the city districts, and another hundred in the outside districts, some seventy-five or more towns being represented.

The contest was but a few hours started when the ballots and subscriptions commenced to come in and interest is increasing daily. Boys and girls from families in every walk of life are represented, and all are doing everything in their power to secure the coupons and subscriptions that mean the winning votes.

Those who are working hard in the start have an advantage over those who think that the contest is a game. Many are carefully planning the campaign, asking for the support of all their friends and laying the foundations for a six weeks' battle that will not be easily beaten.

Mail waited to see the first list of standings and see what others were doing, and now that the list has been published and every one knows who is who, will settle down to business.

The list of standings will be published again on Sunday morning and will include all votes deposited in the ballot box at this office, up to 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Nominations are still in line, and any boys or girls wanting to enter the contest should see that their nomination blanks are sent in at once, so that they can start to work without losing any more time.

Any information concerning the contest, receipt books for taking subscriptions, etc., may be had by calling on the contest manager at The Times-Dispatch office.

News of Petersburg.

Times-Dispatch Bureau.
109 North Sycamore Street, Petersburg, Va., August 10.
Clarence Goldberry, a negro convict, was taken to the Petersburg Hospital to-day, dangerously injured, as the result of a murderous assault made upon him by a fellow convict named Charles Hurst, alias Charles Tyler. The two men are members of the road force at work in Dinwiddie county, near this city, and are both short-term prisoners, sent up from Norfolk.

The assault seems to have been without provocation, beyond the fact that Hurst had been joked yesterday by some of his companions, and he had then struck at Goldberry with his pickaxe. For his misbehavior Hurst was punished by stripes. This morning, when the negroes were being taken from camp to the road, Hurst was heard to remark that he intended to kill a negro to-day if it cost him his life. About 9 o'clock, while the two men were on opposite sides of the road, Hurst crossed over and struck Goldberry with his pick, the point of which penetrated the abdomen. While Goldberry was down Hurst endeavored to strike him again, but was prevented by the guard with drawn gun. He was at once placed under arrest and guarded.

This afternoon a warrant was sworn out for Hurst, charging him with assault with intent to kill, and he was brought from the camp to the city jail.

Crops Destroyed by Hail.
A very severe hailstorm is reported to have occurred yesterday afternoon in Brunswick county, in the neighborhood of Harper's Home, which proved destructive to crops in its path. The fine tobacco crop on the farm of Crawley Jones, and the corn and tobacco crops on the adjacent farm of R. T. Stone, are said to have been almost totally ruined. It is feared that other farm crops in the vicinity were also damaged.

Reported Independent Move.
It is reported that circulars have been distributed in Dinwiddie calling a meeting of citizens to be held at the courthouse on Saturday to consider the question of nominating an independent ticket for county officers, in opposition to the regular ticket. It is said that the movement is backed by strong influence. The primary election in Dinwiddie does not take place until September 7.

Death of Young Man.
James W. Brockwell, a worthy and well-known young druggist, for a number of years employed in the firm of W. E. Armstrong & Co., died at an early hour this morning at his home on High Street. He was a young man of sterling character and very popular. He is survived by his wife and two children and four brothers.

Several new cases of typhoid fever have been reported to the Health Department this month, and two or three deaths have occurred from the disease. A. W. ## ARRANGING JONES SPEECH AT LOUISA

Will Invade Judge Sims's County Monday—List of League Appointments.

An engagement has been made for Representative William A. Jones to speak at Louisa on next Monday, at 11 o'clock. The time for advertising this meeting is necessarily short, since the appointment has just been decided upon, but every effort is being made to get out a crowd for him. In view of the spirited running debate which has been in progress in Louisa for months between Judge Frederick Wilmer Sims and R. Lindsay Gordon, Jr., over Senator Martin's votes on tariff questions, there will, it is expected, be a good deal of interest over this gathering, which may develop some new material.
